Editor's Note

Well I was truly stunned when I was literally crowned with the post of Head Editor of the School and my companion Ms Deergha Joshi was gilded with the post of Sub Editor.

That moment was the most fascinating one as our names were being added in the School Student's Council.

And when the utter responsibility of making the newsletter for the school approached me, I was on the Seventh Heaven.

I had seen the charm in the former editors who contributed in publishing the newsletter and I could feel the same charm and enthusiasm within me.

This newsletter, which is the first by me, is astonishing and splendid because it has got the eerie magic of words which will blow your minds and the newsletter is made up with so delicate realism that no one can ponder to deny it.

This 9 page newsletter would have been nothing if Principal Sir would have denied guiding us in the right path. I whole, heatedly thank him in helping and motivating us.

Secondly, I want to show my gratitude to Upkar Sir for spending his precious time with us and showering his essence of knowledge upon us. Finally, I would like to thank the editorial team for making such hard efforts and making this newsletter extremely special.

This newsletter is lavished with hard work, love, transcending writings and most important team work.

NATIONAL SCIENCE
CONCOURS 2015-16

The National Science Concours or the N.S.C. organized in Templeton Academy International for about 5 days was a relishing event and indelible. The series of events that were carried out in this informative session were as under-

1. Horticulture Visit- On the second day of the program the participants were taken for horticulture visit. The students got acquainted to the hilly terrain and they ransacked the farming done in hilly areas which is commonly known as terrace farming. This little trip rejuvenated the minds of the students and helped them to comprehend the aesthetics of Nature.

2. The Physics and Biology Workshops- On the third day of the program a physics and biology workshop was held. Both the workshops were running simultaneously.

In the physics workshop, the students demonstrated water level alarms which are used to alarm the rise in the water level. The alarms are best way to make the people aware about floods so that the natives can protect themselves before any tragedy. The students were provided with dismantled units of the alarm which were assembled into a functionary unit.

In the biology workshop the students were enlightened by the experiment of DNA isolation of a ripe banana and were guided by the workshop of forensic science. The students were taught how to handle criminal scenes, how to collect evidences and blood samples from a crime spot. The forensic workshop was inquisitive.

Both the workshops were very informative and they relished the minds of the students.

3. Star Gazing Night- On the fourth night of the program an indelible star gazing night was sponsored. Initially Mr. Amitabh from D.U. accompanied by Dr. Prabhas Pandey introduced the micro details of the astronomical paraphernalia. Further the students were rendered an opportunity to marvel the heavenly bodies such as the planets, asteroids and comets. The students got an experience of a life time.

STUDENT COUNCIL:

TEMPLETON ACADEMY INTERNATIONAL

On Hiroshima Day, 6th August 2016 to Commemorate the 71st Anniversary of the First Atomic Bombing and to Console the Victims of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, we, the students of Templeton Academy International Call for Worldwide Nuclear Disarmament.

We believe that the Nuclear Weapons are an "absolute evil" and ultimate inhumanity. We urge the world leaders to put an end to them. To coexist peacefully, we must discard nuclear weapons. Now is the time to take massive action to abolish nuclear weapons.

We appeal that to the World Leaders that they should stop the production of weapons of mass destruction and use the money thus saved for the welfare of humanity by building schools, providing shelter and food to the poorest of the poor and provide medical facilities to those who cannot afford it.

The Book Carnival

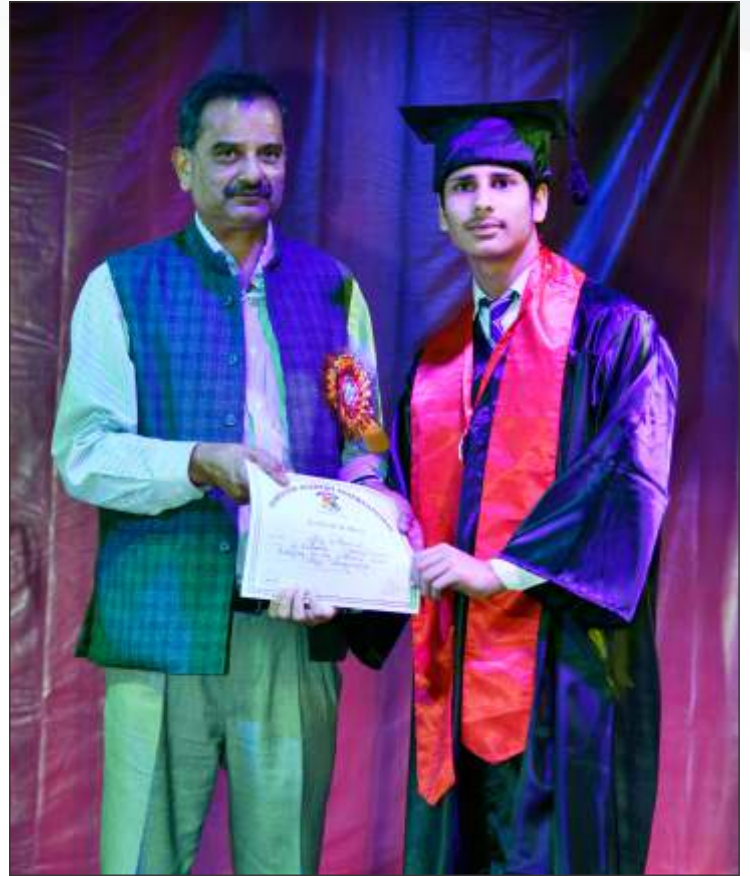

A book carnival was hosted in Templeton Academy International on 5th of May in association with BPI Books Pvt. It had a multiple collection of books to suit the taste of all the students and readers. Novels like 'Vanity Fair', 'Hard Times', 'The Oath of Vayuputaras', 'The Hunger Games Series' were the major attractions. Books like 'Making India Awesome', 'Three Mistakes of My Life', by the leading Indian author Chetan Bhagat also captivated the bibliophiles.

Apart from novels, color books for kids, fairy tales for little kids, mental exercise book, and daily life hack books too were displayed. The fair lasted for around two days with routine visits by different classes. It was a beneficial event put forth by the school to promote reading habits among students. Students too were observed to be enthusiastic and filled with positivity for reading.

11th State Chess Championship

Recently the students of T.A.I. competed in the 11th State Chess Championship venued at Kiccha between 11th and 13th of April. The students exhibited diplomatic acumen and handsomely surpassed their peer rivals and honoured the institution with motivational accolades.

Mr. Ashutosh Kaushal accompanied the students as the instructor and it was his sheer guidance which kept the students at the bay. Master Raj Agarwal soared as the icon of the tournament in the under of class XII of TAI 25 category with a massive tally of 4.5 marks and was rendered the green flag for the forthcoming National tournaments.

Career Counselling Workshop

On 25th of April, Templeton Academy International stationed a workshop on career counselling to enlighten the students about the numerous career options available across the globe. Mr. Divit Sharma from the Career Launcher Institute in Haldwani enacted as the counsellor and mobilized the aspirations of the students by providing valuable data regarding various streams such as B.B.A., M.B.A., Hotel Management, Mass Communication, Law and Finance Management. The Students thoroughly relished the proceedings and gained access to a bagful of knowledge to enhance their professional pursuits.

Templeton Greets Classical

On 26th of April Templeton Academy International, Naukuchiatal felt privileged to host an instrumental display of Bharatnatyam Classical Dances, sponsored by Spic Macay Ltd. and performed by the renowned Indian Classical dancer Mrs. Rama Vaidhyanatham. She was accompanied by her team comprising of vocalists, instrumentalists and dancers. The program commenced with lighting of the lamp ceremony followed by a series of dance sequence including Pushpanjalidance, Ardhavariswara- a merged form of lord Shiva and Goddess Parvati in the dance form and a Bhajan dance presentation titled 'Vaishnavya'. The prowess of the performers casted a bewitching spell and instilled an aura of equanimity and tranquility within the entire arena. The audience witnessed the authentic classical heritage with an awe-struck response. The program met its end with the vote of thanks extended by the honourable Principal of the school.

Templeton Hosts Cultural Extravaganza

Templeton Academy International witnessed a mesmerizing spree of cultural festivities as it celebrate the Annual Function Program in the school's auditorium. Although the last minute intervention of the rain served as a party spoiler but the school's administration managed to propel the event in an exceedingly improvised manner. The proceedings commenced with the lighting the diya ceremony by the reverend chief guest Mr. Hoshiyar Singh Dhami the vice chancellor of Kumaun University, other distinguished guests and the dignitaries.

The melodrama of the program was based on an ancient theme extracted from the Shakespeare's famous poem 'The Seven Ages'. A series of dance performances kept the audience on the edge of their seats. The dance numbers 'Nanhi Pari' and 'Bum bum bole' stole the show and received a vociferous response. The drama performance on the famous drama 'The Merchant of Venice' took the audience to the ancient time. The formation dance was really divine and was praised by the audience. The program met its end with the vote of thanks rendered by Mr. Rakesh Saha, the honourable Principal of T.A.I.
